ITAR Compliance – Employee Policy Summary

1. What is ITAR?

The International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR) are U.S. laws controlling the export of defense-related materials, services, and technical data. Our company works with components that may be ITAR-controlled.

2. Who Must Comply?

All employees, contractors, and visitors must follow ITAR rules. Only U.S. persons (citizens, permanent residents, refugees, or asylees) may access ITAR-controlled data unless special government authorization is obtained.

3. Your Responsibilities

- Do not share ITAR data with foreign nationals without authorization.
- Keep ITAR drawings, files, and materials secure at all times.
- Use only approved, secure systems for storing and emailing ITAR data.
- Report any suspected ITAR issues immediately.

4. Security Rules

- Keep ITAR documents locked when not in use.
- Escort foreign visitors and never leave them unaccompanied in restricted areas.
- Label and separate ITAR work from commercial projects whenever possible.

5. Training

Annual ITAR training is mandatory for all employees. Specialized training is given to engineers, managers, and supply chain staff.

6. Reporting

If you suspect a violation or mistake, report it right away to your supervisor or the Export Compliance Officer. No retaliation will occur for reporting in good faith.

7. Consequences

Breaking ITAR rules can result in serious penalties, including termination, company fines, and federal prosecution. Protect yourself and the company by following this policy at all times.
